Tasked with reinventing this cottage on the Bradford Estate by its owners, Viscount and Viscountess Newport, Emma Ainscough has created something magical – and the best bit? You can rent it out for holidays. Located on the Shropshire/Staffordshire border, the cottage makes a lovely base for exploring the Shropshire hills and valleys, and taking day trips in the charming town of Shrewsbury.

This idyllic cottage in Oxfordshire was looking rather tired until a trio of creatives - designer Sarah Delaney, architects Barnaby Gunning and garden designer Butter Wakefield - gave it a characterful update, both inside and out. Located a short way to the south of Oxford, the cottage is within an easy distance of London, and sleeps eight in four double bedrooms.
