Firefly

Cornwall

Firefly is as stylish a shack as you are ever likely to find, tucked away in the hamlet of Trebudannon between Newquay and Mawgan Porth on the north coast of Cornwall. With a rustic, beachy aesthetic that has been meticulously created from wood, using lots of upcycled furniture and thoughtful touches, this romantic little cabin sleeps two people and has a hot tub and wildlife pond outside. Cornwall's stunning beaches, some with the best surfing breaks in the country, are just a 15-minute drive away.
